C. A. AUFFHORDT & CO.'S HEAD MAN OFF TO GLASGOW.

Sald to Owe $100,000 Which He Has Lost in Wall Street-Got Into a Similar Trouble Once Before, Which the Firm Straightened Out-Victims Unknown.

When it became known in the dry goods trade yesterday that William Kruse, the office manager for the importing dry goods house of C. A. Auffmordt & Co. of 33 Green street, had disappeared after unsuccessful speculations in Wall street, there was a lot of talk. That Kruse had borrowed a good deal of money and that securities which had been intrusted to him have deappeared is asserted upon the authority of Mr. John F. Degener of the firm, but Mr. Degener declares that he cannot yet say whether Mr. Kruse misspent any of the firm's money or not. The report is that Kruse sank something like $100,000 of other people's money. He is 60 years old, and lived with his wife and his youngest daughter In a handsome house at 750 West 123d street. This house was supposed to I clong to him. He has married daughters, and the one at home was about to marry. The firm of Auff-mordt & Co. is composed of Clement A. Auffmordt, who lives in France; John F. Degener of 5 West Thirty-eighth street, this city William Degener of Orange, who is John F. Degener's uncle, and the estate of the late Count Adolf W. von Kessler. The house is reputed to be very rich, and, besides doing an ordinary importing business, it is said to do a ordinary importing business, it is said to do a banking business, acting as the financial backers and selling agents of a considerable number of houses.

All the complicated business which grew out of these different relationships was attended to by Mr. Kruse as head of the office force of the house. He was also much trusted by the other employees and by persons who did business with the firm. He had his own private safe in the office, and in this he kept securities which had come to him in trust.

Count von Kessler died a few months ago, and Mr. Kruse is said to have been intrusted with a supervision of the interests of his estate. So far as can be ascortained, no member of the firm had any reason to suspect that Mr. Kruse was in trushle contil after last Friday. On that day, about 10 o'clock in the morning, Mr. Kruse went to Mr. John F. Degener and asked to be excused because of a violent head-ache.

asked to be excused because of a violent headache.

"I want to see my doctor," said he.

Insuead o? going to see his doctor, Kruse went straight to the foot of West Twenty-first street, it is supposed, and boarded the Alian line recamer State of Nebraska, which sailed that day at it A. M. for Glasgow. Before leaving he posted a letter to his wife, telling her of his flight and something of the reasons for it.
Mrs. Kruse at once sent this information to Mr. Degener.

Mr. Degener said yesterday that Mr. Kruse had been with the house thirty-one years, and that until this trouble occurred he had never known a word against him. Since Mr.
Kruse disappeared on Friday, ho wever, he said he had learned from his uncle. William Degener, that Mr. Kruse had got into a somewhat similar trouble some years ago. The firm had cente to his help, and Mr. Kruse had made a satisfactory settle alent at the time.

"It should not be at all surrarised." Mr.

similar trouble some years ago. The firm hat come to his help, and Mr. Kruse had made a satisfactory settlement at the time.

"I should not be at all surprised," Mr. Degener continued, "if Mr. Kruse were to let us hear from him as soon as he arrives at Glasgow and offer to come back and help straighten out his affairs."

Kruse. Mr. Degener said, had no access to the securities of the ilrm; but notwithstanding this an expert had been employed to go over the firm's books to see that all was right. So far no discrepancies had been discovered. Mr. Kruse's private safe was broken open. It was emmty of valuables. Some of the securities which it was known to have contained. Mr. Degener said, had been traced to brokers with whom Mr. Kruse dealt. Who these brokers were Mr. Degener would not tell. Mr. Degener said he had not decided yet whether to take measures to have Mr. Kruse apprehended upon his arrival at Glasgow, and at Police Headquarters Capt. O'Biken of the Detective Bureau said no report of the case had yet been made to him.

Barja, Minister of Fenador at Mevico: Pablo Albornes a friend of Larren, who lives at the Hotel America, ail testified that they accompanied Larrea and Garcia to the steamer, the latter going along as interpreter. Garcia carried the bag containing the gold and diamonds, and, after laying them the gold and diamonds, and, after laying them on the bed in Larrea's stateroom, stood guard at the door, while Larrea talked with his friends. Larrea came back a short time afterward and the door, while Larrea talked with his friends. Larrea came back a short time afterward and says that he saw Garcia talking to a stranger, who, Garcia explained, was an officer of the ship. Then Larrea went inside and discovered that the jewelry was missing. He ran out, but Garcia and the stranger had disappeared. He found Garcia later, but he denied all knowledge of, the whereabouts of money or jewelry. Larrea then caused his arrest.

Larrea confessed that he had no evidence against Garcia, and Arthur T. Brutleh, proprietor of the Hotel America, said that Garcia was an honest man and incapable of the theft. Garcia will probably be discharged to-day.

There are now seventy-eight members. The new members contended that the proceeds of the sale belonged to the association as it now stands and should go to the cost of the new Clearing Hasse. Justice Truax rays:

The legal and equitable title to the premises was in the fifty-nine banks, which were known as the original associates, as tenants in common, and the five additional grantees had no title to the property, but had at most the power in trust to sell and distribute the proceeds mong those who held the legal and equitable itie. They have sold the premises and they should distribute the proceeds."

The features of to-day's stock market were an effective bear campaign against Chicago Gas and a continuation of London buying. The demonstration against Chicago Gas was made during the first hour of business, and was effective in that it lowered the price 434 points. The decline was accelerated by the execution of stop orders and also by liquidation of speculative accounts. The dealings in the certificates were not, however, as extensive might be inferred from the magnitude of the decline in price. Brokers who were apparently acting for some of the larger interests in the Chicago Gas companies were extensive buyers of the certificates at the decline, and there also appeared to be a demand for them from operators who were generally credited with an active part in the raid. In consequence the certificates recovered more than half of the maximum declined and closed only 2 points lower than yesterday. Of news affecting the Chicago Gas enterprise there was none. It is possible, however, that some speculative holders of the certificates were influenced to sell by the prominence that the Populistic Governor of Illinois has attained in connection with the Chicago Convention. The break in Chicago Gas naturally affected the entire list, particularly the Industrial stocks. With the view, apparently, of making the drive against Chicago Gas more effective, efforts were made to depress Rock Island. They were temporarily successful, but that stock rallied with the remainder of the list during the last half of the day and closed fractionally higher than last night. The heaviest trading was, as for some time past, in Sugar Refining. also ted in the afternoon improvement in prices, scoring a net advance of 1% per cent. St. Paul and Louisville and Nash-some time past the transfer offices of the St. Paul and Louisville and Nashville companies have been crowded to their fullest capacity in preparing certificates for shipment to Europe by Saturday's steamers. The shipments of St. Paul this week are estimates upon data obtained from the company at fully 25,000 shares. Transfers of stocks to the names of foreign ankers indicate nearly as large shipments of Louisville and Nashville.

Gas had spent its force the entire list showed a disposition to raily that induced extensive covering of shorts during the iast half of the day. The raily showed more vitality than any recent reaction, a circumstance that obviously impaired the confidence of operators for short account. Foreign banking houses agree that they will ship little, if any, gold on Saturday, though a persistent rumor is current that in spite of the decline in the foreign exchange market $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 will be shipped at the end of the week. Speculative sentiment was influenced to an extent in the late trading by trustworthy offers to bet large amounts at odds of 10 to 4 that the Republican candidate for President will be elected. The closing was strong, at a slight recession from the best prices.
